Module Co-ordinator	Alan Curley
Summary of Module
Independent study is an intrinsically worthwhile developmental experience and provides an opportunity for students to customise their learning programme through individually negotiated sets of learning objectives and activities. Within this module students will be expected to focus their individual study within the context of health, social care or education (HSCE) to explore an area of personal interest and professional relevance. In so doing a critical literature review of the chosen topic will be developed, which addresses both the module outcomes and the student generated learning objectives.

¹ Where contact hours are synchronous/ live and take place fully on campus. Campus-based learning is focused on providing an interactive learning experience supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

² The module includes a combination of synchronous/ live on-campus and online learning events. These will be supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus and online contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

³ Where all learning is solely delivered by web-based or internet-based technologies and the participants can engage in all learning activities through these means. All required contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

⁴ Learning activities where the main location for the learning experience is in the workplace. All required contact hours, whether online or on campus, will be clearly articulated to students

Learning Outcomes
L1	Plan and execute an in-depth independent study in a health, social care or education related area.
L2	Demonstrate holistic, critical and comparative knowledge in the selected area.
L3	Formulate an original and critical response to the field of study.
L4
L5

Employability Skills and Personal Development Planning (PDP) Skills
SCQF Headings	During completion of this module, there will be an opportunity to achieve core skills in:
Knowledge and Understanding (K and U)	Please select SCQF Level SCQF Level 11. Critical and integrated knowledge of a health, social care or education related area field of study.
Practice: Applied Knowledge and Understanding	Please select SCQF Level SCQF Level 11. Relate key components of an investigation into a health, social care or education related area to the work care setting.
Generic Cognitive skills	Please select SCQF Level SCQF Level 11. Critical and original responses to contemporary issues or problems.
Communication, ICT and Numeracy Skills	Please select SCQF Level SCQF Level 11. Demonstrate a wide range of complex and expert communication. Demonstrate ICT and numeric skills.
Autonomy, Accountability and Working with Others	Please select SCQF Level SCQF Level 11. Demonstrate considerable autonomy and initiative in all professional activities.

Learning and Teaching

In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours.

This module is delivered via face-to-face delivery as well as by fully distance learning utilising a Virtual Learning Environment (VLE).

Face to face delivery: In this mode of delivery, students will attend classes and take part in a range of face-to-face student centred activities with the lecturer and class peers. The materials presented during the classes will be those utilised by fully online students to ensure parity of experience. Taught students have access to direct individual and tutorial support from their lecturers and will be directed to wider reading, including access to electronic library and books. They will also have access to the VLE as a mechanism for peer and staff communication and dissemination of information.

Distance learning students: In this mode of delivery, students are learning fully online and are supported by the VLE. On-line students will receive core module resources; individual and group tutorial support and directed learning via the VLE system. This will be aided by asynchronous/synchronous online discussion boards; virtual learning activities; tutorials (on-line or face to face via Webex); directed wider reading including access to electronic library and e-books.

Module content reflects societal diversity and a rights-based approach to practice. To promote accessibility, anticipatory adjustments have been made to teaching and learning strategies e.g. availability of electronic copies of lecture materials. Further reasonable adjustments can be made for students who have been assessed as requiring specific adjustments e.g., specialised equipment for studying e.g. specialised software.

Students have access to direct support from a designated lecturer supervisor and will be directed to wider reading, including access to electronic library and books. They will also have access to the VLE as a mechanism for peer and staff communication and dissemination of information.

All students will be expected to work through the on-line module materials independently via the VLE. This will assist in enhancing skills of communication, presentation, problem-solving and critical reflection.

Learning Activities	Student Learning Hours

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

In line with the Academic Engagement Procedure, Students are defined as academically engaged if they are regularly engaged with timetabled teaching sessions, course-related learning resources including those in the Library and on the relevant learning platform, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

Equality and Diversity

Assessment (also refer to Assessment Outcomes Grids below)

Assessment 1

Formative Assessment (0% weighting): Following the independent study briefing, students will prepare and submit a 500 word study proposal which introduces the focus of the independent study, provides a rationale and includes two student generated learning objectives. The proposal will be reviewed by their personal / academic supervisor. The student will discuss with their supervisor to negotiate the final study activity.

Assessment 2

Summative Assessment (100% weighting): Assessment Category 1 (Assignment/Essay)
 The nature of the assessment will take the form of a 4,500 word critical literature review of the agreed topic and will be guided by the proposed learning objectives and feedback received from the formative assessment.

Assessment 3

(N.B. (i) Assessment Outcomes Grids for the module (one for each component) can be found below which clearly demonstrate how the learning outcomes of the module will be assessed.
 (ii) An indicative schedule listing approximate times within the academic calendar when assessment is likely to feature will be provided within the Student Module Handbook.)
