Summary of Module

This module allows students the opportunity to explore, in depth, one contemporary issue in the law. The module is intended to help students develop legal research, legal writing, and critical thinking skills. The module can be delivered in any term and can be adapted to meet credit deficit to enable students to progress with their studies where otherwise they would have been prevented from doing so. The student will work with a member of staff to design an assessment to meet their particular needs and interests and will work independently, with some limited supervision, to deliver their chosen project.

Indicative Resources
The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes: Foster, S., Legal Writing Skills: A guide to writing essays and answering problem questions (5th edition, Pearson 2019) Higgins, E., and Tatham, L., Successful Legal Writing (3rd edition, Sweet & Maxwell 2015) Webley, L., Legal Writing (5th edition, Routledge 2024)
(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements
In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time. For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following: In line with the Academic Engagement Procedure, Students are defined as academically engaged if they are regularly engaged with timetabled teaching sessions, course-related learning resources including those in the library and on the relevant learning platform, and complete assessments and submit these on time. Please refer to the Academic Engagement Procedure at the following link: Academic engagement procedure. Where a module has Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Body requirements these will be listed here: Attendance at all timetabled tutorials, engagement with activities outlined on the VLE (including watching the video lectures) and submission of the assessment.

Equality and Diversity
The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustment for different needs where appropriate. Module materials comply with University guidance on inclusive learning and teaching, and specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. Where modules require practical and/or laboratory based learning or assessment required to meet accrediting body requirements the University will make reasonable adjustment such as adjustable height benches or assistance of a 'buddy' or helper.
(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
