Summary of Module
On this module, students will develop the necessary skills to create original theatre, giving them the opportunity to make their own work and explore subjects without the restrictions of a pre-existing script. This module is designed to introduce students to different principles and pedagogies of devising such as different modes of ‘play’, games, storytelling, and physical performance as an ensemble to create work. This will include experiencing a variety of devising practices ranging from director-led to non-hierarchical collaboration and ensemble-led performance. Alongside exploring and developing their performances, students will critically reflect on the diverse approaches to devising via independent research and their own practice throughout. This module encourages students to expand their physical and emotional range, working imaginatively from within contexts and positions of their own choosing that are led by their own emerging tastes, interests, skills, and politics as performers and theatre-makers.
