Summary of Module

The purpose of this module is to allow the students to become more familiar with television industry studio practice and associated online and professional studio production approaches.

Central to the student's learning will be their ability to reflect on the knowledge of a number of television production roles as applied by the student in studio production projects.

This module will introduce UK students to some of the skills, attributes and procedure necessary to achieve competency in the following Screenskills National Occupational Standards Production (Film & TV):

P1, P4, P6, P7 - P12, P16 - P25, P41 - P46, X1 - X4

Students will develop competency in studio production techniques.

Students will analyse various professional TV output and deconstruct the content, identifying specific techniques and professional practice.

Students will work as part of a production team to create a television show.

Students will reflect on their individual studio role and reflect on the final product.

Indicative Resources

The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes:

Brown, Lucy and Duthie, Lyndsay. The TV Studio Production Handbook. I&B Tauris and Co Ltd. (2019)

Fairweather, Rod. (1998) Basic Studio Directing (Media Manuals). Burlington; Focal Press.

Singleton-Turner, Roger. (2021) Cue and Cut - A Practical Approach to Working in Multi Camera Studios. Manchester; Manchester University Press.

Utterback, Andrew. (2019) Studio Television Production and Directing (Media Manuals). Burlington; Focal Press.

Access to a fully functioning TV Studio (or software and equipment allowing an online equivalent) for both tuition and independent study is essential.

(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled oncampus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

Attendance at all sessions is essential as it is very difficult for notes on Aula to substitute for the hands-on experience of working in the TV Studio with the online equivalent.
