Summary of Module

This module begins by examining the role of Talent management across workforces.

Talent management's role is to attract, identify, develop, engage, retain and deploy individuals who are considered particularly valuable to an organisation.

Consideration is given to the changing and evolving labour markets and business environments within which organisations operate and to the related pressures and constraints that affect organisations' supply and demand for labour.

The module analyses the broad strategic HRM choices available to organizations and the need for environmental scanning, internal workforce and performance audits and other planning activities for the recruitment, development, retention and deployment of the requisite effective workforce.

There is coverage of the employment legislation and professional HR practice aspects that affect the HR role in strategic, policy and practice aspects of talent management.

Learning and Teaching
In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours. In line with UWS' Curriculum Framework, providing a flexible, student-centred and inclusive approach to learning and teaching, the module has been designed around the delivery of engaging, activity- and discussion-based workshops, nurtured by meaningful online content, including short videos, reading materials, quizzes, etc. This is further supported by the assessment approach adopted, enabling students to develop both academic and employability-focused knowledge and skills within the key areas of the module content. The contact hours shown below reflect full-time delivery — these may differ for students studying towards the BA(Hons) People Management due to the blended/work-based learning nature of the programme — please refer to the 'Teaching & Assessment' section on the UWS website
Learning Activities During completion of this module, the learning activities undertaken to achieve the module learning outcomes are stated below:	Student Learning Hours (Note: Learning hours include both contact hours and hours spent on other learning activities)
