Summary of Module

The Politics of Drug and Alcohol Policy examines the origins and development of policies relating to drug, alcohol and other substances in Scotland, the UK and internationally. The module aims to understand the complex world of drug and alcohol policy development by exploring the influence of politics and ideology, evidence, advocacy, lobbying, and stakeholders' interests. Lectures will draw on theoretical models and concepts on policy change and the policy process such as policy framing; multiple streams analysis; advocacy coalition framework; policy diffusion; and governance. Attention is given to how drug and alcohol issues are defined, constructed, and problematised; the role of policy communities and networks; political discourses; and ideas and values.

Key contemporary debates on new approaches to drug and alcohol policies; on the impact of drug and broader social policies on users and on special populations (such as injecting drug users, families and communities affected by drugs) will be critically examined. The overall aim is to provide participants with a framework for assessing policy formulation at local, national and international levels.

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled oncampus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

All full-time students (part-time and distant learning students should check with their programme leader for any queries) are required to attend all scheduled classes and participate with all delivered elements of the module as part of their engagement with their programme of study. Consideration will be given to students who have protection under the appropriate equality law. Please refer to UWS Regulations, Chapter 1, 1.64 – 1.67, available at the following link: https://www.uws.ac.uk/about-uws/policies-procedures-guidance/

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

Aligned with the overall commitment to equality and diversity stated in the Programme Specifications, the module supports equality of opportunity for students from all backgrounds and with different learning needs. Using Aula, learning materials will be presented electronically in formats that allow flexible access and manipulation of content (part-time and distant learning students should check with their programme leader for any queries). The module complies with University regulations and guidance on inclusive learning and teaching practice. Specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
