Summary of Module

This module surveys International Political Economy (IPE). IPE is necessary to professionals aspiring to work in public administration or governance, as it advises and elaborates on the range of policy options and possibilities vis-à-vis the macroeconomic environment of states. It employs a decolonised curriculum, placing particular emphasis on IPE of the Global South. Students will be expected to engage critically with the relevant theories and concepts of IPE (such as global value chains, international development, economic nationalism, non-state actors' regulation, and others), while reflecting on the difficult choices that contemporary policymakers must face. Students are encouraged to adopt the decolonised focus by addressing in their projects policymaking difficulties and issues faced by states of the Global South. The module engages with the UNSDGs by exploring opportunities to accommodate or resolve sustainability and development challenges. One of the weekly topics is entirely focused on the UNSDGs, and students can submit policy papers seeking to address specific SDGs. The module promotes inclusive teaching, active learning – incorporating both practical exercises as well as interactive discussions. One of the key aspects of the module is the focus on both collaborative learning, as well as peer-to-peer feedback via collaborative learning and assessment.

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled oncampus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

This module requires attendance and active student engagement. In-class activities are formative assignments geared towards accomplishing the learning outcomes. As per UKVI regulations students must attend all classes (see academic-engagement-and-attendance-procedure.pdf (uws.ac.uk)). Students not able to attend a class must contact the module lecturer and coordinator beforehand via email

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

The module additionally abides to the MPA programme EDI policy meaning that it has prioritises inclusivity in four areas: a) Designing course material b) Inclusive Teaching in class c) Assessment and d) Providing extra support to the students. The module places particular focus on decolonisation in its narrative, theories, accounts, and perspectives engaged. For this reason, a range of readings directly address IPE of the South, or offer critiques of Eurocentric forms of IPE.

Furthermore, due to its theme and focus, the module actively aspires to the creation of plural, de-hierarchised learning space(s), treating everyone with dignity and presupposing the intellectual equality of everyone.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
