Summary of Module
This module builds on the communication and interpersonal skills developed in Professional Communication. The module focuses on overarching themes of critical and self-reflection, alongside exploring aspects of self-care which are core to becoming resilient practitioners. Strategies to build resilience, mindfulness, and self-awareness will be explored. Personal reflection on strengths and areas for ongoing development will be required. • Supports the development of critical reflection and capacity for critically evaluating inter-personal communication skills and use of self. • Provides an enhanced understanding of professional resilience, cognitive bias and self-care skills. • Develops a critical understanding of the role of power and commitment to anti-oppressive and anti-racist practice. • Supports an emerging sense of professional identity and preparation for becoming a professional practitioner. • Embeds the role of peer feedback in practice development. The module will be delivered in a hybrid mode with a combination of synchronous / live online learning opportunities including learning materials, resources and learning activities through a virtual learning environment. Students will be expected to draw from their current practice and use examples within all learning activities, including summative assessment.

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

This module is subject to SSSC requirements regarding student attendance for scheduled teaching. Students are required to attend 80% of all timetabled activity to meet programme specific SSSC requirements.

Engaging in all learning tasks as directed, being prepared for all scheduled learning, including module reading, engaging in all module learning materials, submitting academic assessment within the specified deadlines.

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustments made for different needs where appropriate. Module materials comply with University guidance on inclusive learning and teaching, and specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessments will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. Where modules require practical and/or laboratory based learning or assessment required to meet accrediting body requirements the University will make reasonable adjustments as necessary.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
