Summary of Module
In this module, children's voice, in line with the UNCRC, refers to children having the right to express their opinions, and have a role in decisions that affect them, and with adults taking account of these. Where children and families are listened to, participation can lead to change which shapes wellbeing, relationships, environments and lives. In particular, the students will be able to focus on how participation relates to issues of inclusion and how taking account of the voices and views of vulnerable and minority groups is critical and can facilitate and promote inclusive practice. Investigate and evaluate some of the different methods employed to ensure participation of young children, highlighting the central role of play. Graduate attributes developed will include: Socially Responsible, Emotionally Intelligent, Ethically minded, Effective communicator, Culturally Aware, Critical thinker, Analytical, Resilient, Innovative, and Transformational.
