Summary of Module

This module will enable students to develop a thorough understanding of the Scottish education system and to engage critically with complex issues arising from recent national policy in relation to early learning, primary and secondary education. It will prepare students to take up roles as leaders of learning within their classrooms. In doing so, it asks students to critically engage with key leadership concepts and educational policies that are understood to inform and shape the way that leadership happens in schools.

The module will enable students to develop a critical understanding of socially just and inclusive education. An understanding of relevant legislation and guidance such as GIRFEC will be encouraged. Educational issues arising from diversity relating to disability, gender and gender identity, race, ethnicity, religion and belief and sexual orientation will be explored. The importance of learning for sustainability and engaging learners in real world issues to enhance learning experiences and outcomes will be emphasised through the exploration of sustainable development, local and global citizenship, and enterprise and financial education. Students will explore how to develop realistic and coherent interdisciplinary contexts for learning and opportunities to take learning out of the classroom. Students will explore the teacher's role as leader of learning and in leadership for school improvement.

Resources should be listed in Right Harvard referencing style or agreed professional body deviation and in alphabetical order.

(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure: Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

All full-time students (all students on the programme) are required to attend all scheduled classes and participate with all delivered elements of the module as part of their engagement with their programme of study. Consideration will be given to students who have protection under the appropriate equality law.

Given the professional nature of the programme, 100% attendance and engagement is expected. The module co-ordinator maintains an overview of attendance and engagement. Should there be concerns, there will be liaison between module co-ordinator, personal tutor and the student to identify steps to support engagement and success.

Assessment: (also refer to Assessment Outcomes Grids below)

Summative assessment will comprise two components. In both components, students will be expected to construct coherent arguments which demonstrate understanding of the scope and defining features of educational issues and the associated principles, concepts and terminology; identify and critically analyse problems in professional practice arising from the issues; justify a personal stance by drawing on set readings and other relevant sources.

Throughout this module, students will participate in discussions with teaching staff and peers and will receive formative feedback in relation to their developing thinking on educational issues.

Student handbooks, and other detailed material made available to students, will clarify the relationship between formative assessment and the specific learning outcomes for the module. This will ensure that students can relate feedback from formative assessment to their individual progress on the learning outcomes for the module. On summative assessments, students will receive detailed information indicating the ways in which summative assessments will assess individual learning outcomes for the module. As appropriate, students will also receive detailed information on how feedback will be provided for assessments.

A presentation, worth 30% of the final mark.

An essay of 4,000 words, worth 70% of the final mark. Both components will require critical discussion of key educational issues featured in the module and their implications for teaching and learning. The presentation will serve a formative purpose in enabling students to receive feedback on their demonstrated understanding of a key educational issue and its implications for teaching and learning before exploring other issues and implications in the essay.
