Module Descriptor

Session: 23/24

Title of Module: Psychology Dissertation
Code: PSYC10004	SCQF Level: 10 (Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework)	Credit Points: 20	ECTS: 10 (European Credit Transfer Scheme)
School:	School of Education & Social Sciences
Module Co-ordinator:	G Scott
Summary of Module
The module comprises a supervised independent research study on an empirical topic in Psychology. In Level 9 a preparatory session introduces students to the dissertation project proposal process. This will outline staff supervision interests, the importance of ethics and the viability and scope of dissertation projects. Following this session, students will discuss with potential supervisors the validity of their project ideas. Full ethical approval is required prior to the start of the study. When approved, the study will be carried out and reported via a dissertation. Students are also required to complete a presentation. Guidance is given through a series of synchronous and asynchronous activities, and individual meetings with the supervisor. Supervisors will also spend some of their contact time with students discussing and reflecting on the employability skills obtained on the module. This module will develop the following graduate attributes: Critical Thinking; Analytical Skills; Inquiry Skills; Problem Solver; Incisiveness; Innovator. The module is compulsory for Psychology single honours and a pass is mandatory for British Psychological Society accreditation. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Engaging with scientific literature in an area of current psychology</li> <li>• Conducting an empirical research study in a current area of psychology</li> <li>• Performing appropriate analysis and report, interpret the findings in line with Psychology standards</li> <li>• Presenting research findings in a conference-style setting</li> </ul>

Learning Outcomes: (maximum of 5 statements) These should take cognisance of the SCQF level descriptors and be at the appropriate level for the module. At the end of this module the student will be able to:
L1	Demonstrate an independent approach to research and write a research proposal which is ethically viable and submit an ethics application.
L2	Demonstrate the ability to develop and investigate a research question.
L3	Critically evaluate existing research literature and reflect analytically on the research process.
L4	Demonstrate the application of standard psychological research methods in how research findings can be collected, analysed, evaluated, and presented in oral and written forms

Learning and Teaching
In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours.
Supervision: Students will be supervised by a member of staff who has the appropriate expertise in the proposed area of study, and who will guide the student through the research. Supervision times will be by mutual agreement, and will not only focus on the specific content of the research project but will also emphasize the generic nature of the skills that have been acquired through the workshops and also through years 1-3. In addition to guidance on the specific project, the supervisor will provide a point of contact through which students reflect on and curate a record of employment skills and graduate attributes. Lecture/Core Content delivery refers to synchronous activities and Tutorial/Synchronous	Student Learning Hours (Normally totalling 200 hours): (Note: Learning hours include both contact hours and hours spent on other learning activities)

Support Activity refers to one to one supervision sessions. Asynchronous Class Activity refers to presentation. While working in a peer style relationship with a member of staff, this module allows students to bring together a number of skills developed within the programme in a focused manner, e.g. time management, critical analysis, developing autonomy, and IT, numeracy and literacy skills. The assessment strategy has been devised to encourage students to effectively plan their dissertation process and provide a second point for ethical review of any research tools that will be employed in the data collecting process. Learning Activities During completion of this module, the learning activities undertaken to achieve the module learning outcomes are stated below:
Lecture/Core Content Delivery	10
Tutorial/Synchronous Support Activity	24
Independent Study	358
Personal Development Plan	6
Asynchronous Class Activity	2

Indicative Resources: (eg. Core text, journals, internet access)

The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes:

Bell, P., Staines, P., and Mitchell, J. (2001). Evaluating, doing and writing research in Psychology. London: Sage.

Berry, R. (1994). The research project: How to write it. London. Routledge. (also a 2000 edition)

Field, A. (2018). Discovering statistics using IBM SPSS. London: Sage Publications.

Field, A. and Hole, G. (2003). How to design and report experiments. London: Sage.

Smith J. A. (2015). Qualitative Psychology. London: Sage Publications.

In addition, Journal articles relevant to the research topic must be sourced by the student.

Please ensure the list is kept short and current. Essential resources should be included, broader resources should be kept for module handbooks / Aula VLE.

Resources should be listed in Right Harvard referencing style or agreed professional body deviation and in alphabetical order.

(*N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure: Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

Please ensure any specific requirements are detailed in this section. Module Co-ordinators should consider the accessibility of their module for groups with protected characteristics..

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)

Assessment: (also refer to Assessment Outcomes Grids below)

This section should make transparent what assessment categories form part of this module (stating what % contributes to the final mark).

Maximum of 3 main assessment categories can be identified (which may comprise smaller elements of assessment).

NB: The 30% aggregate regulation (Reg. 3.9) (40% for PG) for each main category must be taken into account. When using PSMD, if all assessments are recorded in the one box, only one assessment grid will show and the 30% (40% at PG) aggregate regulation will not stand. For the aggregate regulation to stand, each component of assessment must be captured in a separate box.

Please provide brief information about the overall approach to assessment that is taken within the module. In order to be flexible with assessment delivery, be brief, but do state assessment type (e.g. written assignment rather than "essay" / presentation, etc ) and keep the detail for the module handbook. Click or tap here to enter text.

Assessment 1: Oral Presentation weighted at 20%

Assessment 2: Written Report of the Research weighted at 80%

Assessment 3

(N.B. (i) Assessment Outcomes Grids for the module (one for each component) can be found below which clearly demonstrate how the learning outcomes of the module will be assessed.

(ii) An indicative schedule listing approximate times within the academic calendar when assessment is likely to feature will be provided within the Student Module Handbook.)
