Summary of Module

Over the last decade there has been several public inquiries, across the UK, highlighting the shameful neglect and maltreatment of health and social care users. In addition to the findings from these inquiries, there is a growing body of evidence indicating that there has been decline in care generally and compassionate care specifically. This may, in part, be explained as being a consequence of the increasing demands on health and social care services due to higher levels of activity, higher throughput, shorter hospital stays, an ageing staff and population and staff shortages in some services.

In 2016 the Scottish Government published the Health and Social Care Delivery Plan outlining changes in health and social care services in Scotland to meet future challenges and demands. Promising a service where health and social care users are at the centre of decisions that affect them.

Building on this positive note, this module seeks to enable health and social care professionals from different professional backgrounds and settings to: develop the ability to understand compassionate practice; have the knowledge and confidence to respond to and challenge poor practice; and be an agent for change at an individual, team and organisational level.

The above skills acquisition, also contribute to the development of the UWS Graduate Attributes.

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled oncampus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

Evidence of active participation / engagement with: course material and resources, and scheduled group and formative activities

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

This module is appropriate for all students. In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustment for different needs where appropriate. To promote inclusive practice, procedures and processes have been subject to Equality Impact Assessment where appropriate. In line with the Equality Act 2010 and UWS Refreshed Equality Outcomes 2021 - 2025 Public Sector Equality Duty Mainstreaming and Equality Outcomes Report 2021 (uws.ac.uk) (pp. 37 - 39) the School of Health and Life Sciences encourages the disclosure of support requirements, including disability, at the recruitment stage and throughout the duration of the module. Emphasis is placed on confidentiality of information, the benefits of disclosure, and that no detriment to progress will be experienced. The School will endeavour to make reasonable adjustments to teaching and learning approaches and arrangements for assessment, and (when applicable) periods of placement, where appropriate.

All learning materials, activities and scenarios will utilise a diverse range of patients to reflect the diversity of students.

Professional programmes have Standards of Proficiency which detail the knowledge, skills and understanding required to be met to permit professional registration to be able to practise safely and effectively in the profession. As an education provider for this professional programme, UWS is not able to adjust these standards. However, we can make reasonable adjustments to assist students in meeting these standards.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
