Learning and Teaching
In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours. The teaching and learning approach will utilise a combination of blended and face to face delivery. Core theoretical content will be predominantly delivered through a series of online materials, including recorded lectures. Face to face sessions will comprise practical sessions and tutorials. Much of the learning will be achieved through formative practical application and discovery, directed independent study tasks, group work and/or class discussion.
Learning Activities During completion of this module, the learning activities undertaken to achieve the module learning outcomes are stated below:	Student Learning Hours (Note: Learning hours include both contact hours and hours spent on other learning activities)
Asynchronous Class Activity	12
Laboratory / Practical Demonstration / Workshop	24

Indicative Resources

The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes:

Behnke, R.S. (2012) Kinetic Anatomy. 3rd edn. Champaign, IL: Human Kinetics.

McArdle, W.D., Katch, F.I., and Katch, V.L. (2014) Exercise Physiology: Nutrition, Energy, and Human Performance. 8th edn. Baltimore: Lippincott Williams and Wilkins.

Tortora, G.J. & Derrickson, B.H. (2017) Principles of Anatomy and Physiology. 15th edn. Hoboken, New Jersey: John Wiley & Sons.

(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

100% Attendance at all module events and consistent weekly engagement with online materials.

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustment for different needs where appropriate. Module materials comply with University guidance on inclusive learning and teaching, and specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. Where modules require practical learning or assessment, alternative formats and/or roles will be provided for students with physical disabilities which impact participation.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
