School	Health and Life Sciences
Module Co-ordinator	H. Warburton
Summary of Module
The module investigates the role of physical activity within society whilst considering the physical and mental health benefits physical activity can provide to individuals and population. The module investigates the contribution of government legislation and guidance within this area. In doing so, relevant academic research will be reviewed, particularly within the areas of developing physical activity practice for the benefit of public health and questioning areas of promotion, application and adherence. These will include health promotion, lifestyle behaviours and physical and mental health. During the course of this module students will develop a range of knowledge regarding the relationship between physical activity and public health. This course will help create more informed students who are conscious of the issues and solutions available through the medium of physical activity. This experience allows students to develop communication, problem solving and critical thinking skills in an applied area of research which advances UWS graduate attributes as ‘successful’, ‘universal’ and ‘work ready’.

¹ Where contact hours are synchronous/ live and take place fully on campus. Campus-based learning is focused on providing an interactive learning experience supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

² The module includes a combination of synchronous/ live on-campus and online learning events. These will be supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus and online contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

³ Where all learning is solely delivered by web-based or internet-based technologies and the participants can engage in all learning activities through these means. All required contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

⁴ Learning activities where the main location for the learning experience is in the workplace. All required contact hours, whether online or on campus, will be clearly articulated to students

Learning and Teaching
In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours. The teaching and learning approach will utilise of asynchronous and synchronous activities to provide a flexible approach to learning. Core theoretical content will be predominantly delivered through a series of online materials, including recorded lectures and interactive tasks hosted on the VLE. Synchronous sessions will comprise of tutorials where much of the learning will be achieved through experiential learning, directed independent study tasks, group work and/or class discussion, and creative problem solving.
Learning Activities	Student Learning Hours
During completion of this module, the learning activities undertaken to achieve the module learning outcomes are stated below:	(Note: Learning hours include both contact hours and hours spent on other learning activities)
Asynchronous Class Activity	18
Tutorial / Synchronous Support Activity	18
Independent Study	164

Indicative Resources
The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes: Biddle S. J. H, Mutrie N. (2021). Psychology of physical activity: determinants, well-being and interventions (4th ed), London: Routledge Clow, A and Edmunds, S. (2014). Physical Activity and Mental Health. Human Kinetics, Leeds. Dishman, R, Heath, G, and Lee, I. (2013), Physical Activity Epidemiology, 92nd ed), Human Kinetics, Leeds.
(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

The university is committed to providing a supportive learning environment that actively facilitates student success. In this module, there is a high degree of student-led flexibility. You are academically engaged if you are regularly engaged with scheduled live sessions on-campus and online, including engaging with online learning activities in your own time, course-related learning resources, and with timely completion and submission of assessments.

Whilst we understand that there may be times when conflicting priorities make participation challenging, for you to gain the most from this module it is recommended that you participate in all scheduled live classes and complete your self-directed learning activities in a timely manner.

It may be difficult to pass the assessment associated with this module if you are not regularly engaging with the module work and live classes. We may reach out to check how things are going and offer support if we observe that you have not been attending sessions or completing online activities.

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustment for different needs where appropriate. Module materials comply with University guidance on inclusive learning and teaching, and specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. Where modules require practical and/or laboratory based learning or assessment required to meet accrediting body requirements the University will make reasonable adjustment such as adjustable height benches or assistance of a 'buddy' or helper.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
