Summary of Module

This module advances knowledge and practical coaching skills developed in previous sport coaching modules. Students will explore and apply coaching theories, concepts and frameworks that relate to how coaches create, manage, and operate within optimised sporting environments. For instance, students will explore the foundations of coach-created motivational climates and analyse the application of these approaches within a different coaching contexts. As part of this, students will also be introduced to coach analysis tools that can promote understanding of and reflection on personal coaching practice.

This module will assist the student in the development of key 'I am UWS Graduate Attributes' to allow those that complete this module to be:

Universal:

Critical Thinker

Emotionally Intelligent

Collaborative

Research-minded

Work Ready:

Knowledgeable

Motivated

Effective communicator

Potential Leader

Successful:

Autonomous

Resilient

Creative

Transformational

SCQF Headings	During completion of this module, there will be an opportunity to achieve core skills in:
Knowledge and Understanding (K and U)	SCQF 9  Demonstrating a critical understanding of sport coaching theories, concepts and frameworks
	Demonstrating knowledge of a range of observational tools to analyse coach behaviour
Practice: Applied Knowledge and Understanding	SCQF 9  Applying knowledge and understanding of sport coaching theories, concepts and frameworks to coaching practice  Using a range of coach analysis tools to reflect upon coach behaviour

&lt;sup>1</sup> Where contact hours are synchronous/ live and take place fully on campus. Campus-based learning is focused on providing an interactive learning experience supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

&lt;sup>2</sup> The module includes a combination of synchronous/ live on-campus and online learning events. These will be supported by a range of digitally-enabled asynchronous learning opportunities including learning materials, resources, and opportunities provided via the virtual learning environment. On-campus and online contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

&lt;sup>3</sup> Where all learning is solely delivered by web-based or internet-based technologies and the participants can engage in all learning activities through these means. All required contact hours will be clearly articulated to students.

Learning and Teaching

In line with current learning and teaching principles, a 20-credit module includes 200 learning hours, normally including a minimum of 36 contact hours and maximum of 48 contact hours.

This module will adopt a hybrid learning and teaching approach. Core theoretical content will be predominantly delivered through a series of asynchronous online materials, including recorded lectures. Synchronous face-to-face sessions (both on campus and online) will be interactive learning sessions to allow the students to apply theories and concepts, complete problem-based learning activities, and receive peer and tutor interaction and feedback.

Learning Activities  During completion of this module, the learning activities undertaken to achieve the module learning outcomes are stated below:	Student Learning Hours  (Note: Learning hours include both contact hours and hours spent on other learning activities)
Laboratory / Practical Demonstration / Workshop	12
Tutorial / Synchronous Support Activity	6
Asynchronous Class Activity	18
Independent Study	164

Indicative Resources

The following materials form essential underpinning for the module content and ultimately for the learning outcomes:

Duda, J. L., Appleton, P. R. & Stebbings, J. (2018) 'Towards more empowering and less disempowering environments in youth sport: Theory to evidenced-based practice', in Knight, C. J., Harwood, C. G. & Gould, D. (eds.) Sport psychology for young athletes. Abingdon, Oxon: Routledge, pp. 81-93.

Gilchrist, M., & Mallett, C. J. (2017) 'The theory (SDT) behind effective coaching', in Thelwell, R., Harwood, C. and Greenlees, I. (eds.) The Psychology of Sports Coaching: Research and practice. London: Routledge, pp. 38-53.

Partington, M., & Walton, J. (2020) 'A guide to analysing coaching behaviours', in Cope, E. and Partington, M. (eds.) Sports Coaching: A Theoretical and Practical Guide. London: Routledge, pp. 18-29.

(N.B. Although reading lists should include current publications, students are advised (particularly for material marked with an asterisk*) to wait until the start of session for confirmation of the most up-to-date material)

Attendance and Engagement Requirements

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled oncampus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this module, academic engagement equates to the following:

100% Attendance at all module events and consistent weekly engagement with online materials.

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.

In line with current legislation (Equality Act, 2010) and the UWS Equality, Diversity, and Human Rights Code, our modules are accessible and inclusive, with reasonable adjustment for different needs where appropriate. Module materials comply with University guidance on inclusive learning and teaching, and specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. Where modules require practical learning or assessment, alternative formats and/or roles will be provided for students with physical disabilities which impact participation.

(N.B. Every effort will be made by the University to accommodate any equality and diversity issues brought to the attention of the School)
