15. Admission Criteria

Candidates must be able to satisfy the general admission requirements of the University of the West of Scotland as specified in Chapter 2 of the University Regulatory Framework together with the following programme requirements:

Appropriate Undergraduate Qualifications:

Candidates must be able to satisfy the general admission requirements of the University of the West of Scotland as specified by Chapter 2 of the Regulatory Framework together with the following programme requirements: Honours degree (minimum 2:2 classification or a bachelor's degree with significant and relevant work experience. Where candidates do not meet the standard entry requirement, they must demonstrate that they have sufficient relevant professional or practice-based experience to undertake their chosen programme of study.

Other Required Qualifications/Experience

English language proficiency is also a requirement, with candidates expected to achieve IELTS average standard of 6.0.

Admission based on Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) will comply with the University's Regulatory Framework (Chapter 2), as well as University regulations on postgraduate study and guidance on RPL. Credit transferred into the programme through Accreditation of Prior Learning (APL) must have been subject to reliable and valid methods of assessment at a recognised HEI. Accredited Prior Experiential Learning (APEL) entry is also permitted. The amount of credit transferred through RPL (APL and APEL) will comply with the maxima set out in the Regulatory Framework. Candidates should note that transferred credit does not carry a grade, therefore, award with distinction cannot be granted for awards where credit is transferred in at level 11.

Further desirable skills pre-application (i.e. to satisfy additional PSRB requirements or other)

A relevant portfolio of: songwriting work/studio production work/creative entrepreneurship activities in the music industries. A demonstrable interest in contemporary popular music.

16	General Overview The programme presents a range of high-level specialised skills related to professional expectations around the bracketed titles; these will be delivered across a range of relevant delivery modes including intensive workshops, classroom and studio delivery, online delivery and a range of self-directed professional briefs. Students will develop understanding around relevant methodologies, both in terms of traditional research modes and creative practice-led research. The programme is flexible, allowing for full-time and part-time study. Overarching educational aims include: Build self-direction and originality in developing creative work and in the promotion, management and dissemination of materials. Embed professional-level autonomy across a range of music practices. Deal with complex issues creatively and systematically, making judgments in the context of music creation and management that have artistic and ethical integrity and value for an audience / market. Embed approaches to self-critique, academic enquiry and practice-based research at the forefront of music, production and music business practices and the related academic discourse. Reflect on learning using tutor and peer feedback. Work independently, demonstrating initiative, self-organisation and time-management, progressing through the degree programme to become an independent learner at the forefront of professional practice. Collaborate across a range of creative music disciplines to deliver briefs within professional timescales in a range of group projects. Use a range of technologies relevant to subject specialisms and more broadly in terms of communication, information retrieval and the dissemination of creative projects. Develop a wide range of advanced skills on a professional level. Use the structures of the course to support professional development planning and career building. Build extensive, detailed knowledge and understanding of a number of specialisms at the forefront of music practice Students will work towards the development of a major self-directed project relevant to their own particular pathway to be delivered via the Masters Creative Project 60-credit module. The project will evidence understanding and integration of specific and relevant research methodologies (creative practice-led and traditional research modes), significant subject knowledge and clear alignment with the expectations of industry. In completing the project students will also define a professional dissemination plan. Students of the MA Music (Industries)/MA Music pathway may alternatively undertake a Dissertation in the final trimester dependent on the focus of their research and desired output. The MA Music graduate, across the four pathway titles, will be an accomplished, critically reflective practitioner with a set of strongly focused skills and the ability to exist and thrive autonomously in a range of professional contexts.

	Learning and Teaching “Your learning and teaching in Arts & Media aligns to principles set out in the UWS Curriculum Framework. Module and programme design is therefore guided by a flexible, hybrid and student-centred approach. We design module assessments to be authentic both in terms of their academic rigour and relevance to the creative industries. The journey through your chosen programme of study is designed to be simple and coherent, developing a full range of academic, creative and conceptual skills required to develop exciting and sustainable careers in the creative industries. Your voice is important in helping us shape learning and teaching that is inclusive and contemporary, so we encourage you to engage with opportunities to feedback on your experiences.”
17	Graduate Attributes, Employability & Personal Development Planning
	The programme is fully aligned with institutional priorities around the development of graduate attributes and with the institutional policy on personal development planning. The mapping of programme and module learning outcomes and employability-integrated assessment ensures the visibility of graduate attributes, employability and citizenship competencies. Personal development is embedded and explicitly signposted in the curriculum, with students provided with regular opportunities to capture and evaluate progression and development, stimulating reflection, self-regulation and a more constructive engagement with employability. It is recognised that personal development planning is an essential component of lifelong learning and continuing and professional development. To support this activity, all students are provided with access to personal development planning tools and enabled to develop a personal e-portfolio across the programme. Specifically, the modules, programme levels and programme learning outcomes across the framework are carefully designed to ensure professional practice is closely aligned with academic development. Students are required to consider creative work within modules as publishable outputs – this is clear in modules such as Creative Industries: Professional Practice, Professional Music Brief and Professional Music Release and in the final Masters Creative Project / Dissertation which is likely to be either a published creative work or a contextualisation of a live business idea.
18	Work Based Learning/Placement Details
	Work-related learning underpins both the programme and its distinct pathways through the externally-facing assessments, professionally focused briefs and the expectation that the overarching narrative of MA Music is to work through a series of modules and levels towards a substantial professional output either in terms of songwriting and performance, music production or an entrepreneurial event / artefact / research. The delivery team is closely aligned to all aspects of the music industry within Scotland and abroad and bring this expertise to bear on the teaching of the programme, the research that underpins it and also in terms of access to industry figures. There will be an opportunity to engage with community music projects – a growing employment sector within the music industries – and other live events. The existing music MA programmes already have a significant track record in accessing live, high profile projects for students and graduates (Digital Commonwealth 2014, Pits, Ponies, People & Stories research project, The Falkirk Music Pot via Creative Scotland).

19	Attendance and Engagement
	In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are defined as academically engaged if they are regularly engaged with timetabled teaching sessions, course-related learning resources including those in the Library and on the VLE, and complete assessments and submit these on time. For the purposes of this programme, academic engagement equates to the following: Submitting material for all assessments, engaging with Aula materials weekly during scheduled teaching times, attending timetabled classes more than 80% of the time unless absence has been agreed with module co-ordinators/lecturers. Certain assessments may require attendance at workshops/classes as part of their completion and in this case attendance requirements may be stricter - where this is the case, this will be outlined as part of the detailed module assessment requirements.
20	Equality and Diversity
	The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code. Please detail any specific arrangements for this programme. This should be considered and not just refer the reader to the UWS Equality and Diversity policy.
