16	General Overview This programme gives students the opportunity to study both theoretical and applied criminology at an advanced level and to use the knowledge, skills and understanding gained to engage critically, innovatively and independently with contemporary issues surrounding Criminal Justice. Students gain a practical understanding of how established theories and research methods are used to create and interpret knowledge within Criminology and Criminal Justice. Key issues debated include policing, reducing reoffending policies and punishment. Key features of the programme: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Focus on understanding criminal justice within a global and comparative context. • Opportunity to develop expertise in the area of criminal justice that interests you. • Employability and career-relevant content through innovative learning and assessment. • Study within a diverse international community of learners. The programme equips students with essential skills and knowledge for a range of careers in the criminal justice sector including the police, prison service and criminal justice social work, policy analysis and evaluation, and policy work in governments, local authorities or charities. Students may also seek to undertake doctoral studies after completing the Masters programme. The academics who teach on the programme draw on their research networks for the benefit of the student experience through a combination of field trips to external organisations and the use of guest speakers from external bodies. The programme team support students to develop their own networks and to co-produce Masters projects with external organisations (e.g. through the UWS-Oxfam Partnership as well as our other partners). The programme is flexible allowing for part-time and full-time study, while also blending on campus, and on-line delivery techniques. Moreover, a range of transferable skills are enhanced and these include the ability to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Gather, organise and deploy evidence, data and information from a variety of secondary and some primary sources. • Identify, investigate, analyse, formulate and advocate solutions to problems. • Construct reasoned argument, synthesise relevant information and exercise critical judgement. • Reflect on their own learning and seek and make use of constructive feedback. • Manage their own learning self-critically. • Recognise the importance of explicit referencing and the ethical requirements of study which requires critical and reflective use of information and communications technology in the learning process. • Communicate effectively and fluently in speech and writing. • Use communication and information technology, including audio-visual technology, for the retrieval and presentation of information, including, where appropriate, statistical or numerical information. • Work independently, demonstrating initiative, self-organisation and time management, progressing through the degree programme to become an independent learner.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Collaborate with others to achieve common goals through, for example, group work, group projects, group presentations. Students are required to design and undertake an extended piece of written research focused around a specific research question via the MSc Dissertation. The programme outcomes have been informed by a variety of internal and external sources.
17	Graduate Attributes, Employability & Personal Development Planning
	The programme is fully aligned with institutional priorities around the development of graduate attributes and with the institutional policy on personal development planning. The UWS Graduate Attributes were created to reflect the range of skills, qualities and abilities students can develop at UWS which will help to prepare them for success outwith the university. The programme will help develop student attributes across three dimensions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Academic - knowledge, skills and abilities related to high-level academic study. Personal - qualities and characteristics of well-rounded, developed, responsible individuals. Professional - skills, aptitudes and attitudes required for professional working life in the 21st century. The aim is to develop graduates who are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Universal - globally relevant with comprehensively applicable abilities, skills and behaviours. Work ready - dynamic and prepared for employment in complex, ever-changing environments which require lifelong learning and resilience. Successful - as a UWS graduate with a solid foundation on which to continue succeeding and realising my potential, across various contexts.
18	Work Based Learning/Placement Details
	Work-related learning underpins the programme with the use of authentic employment-focused assessments. The programme also offers students the opportunity to enhance their CV by undertaking a practice-based project as part of their final dissertation in collaboration with a public or third sector organisation.
19	Attendance and Engagement
	In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are defined as academically engaged if they are regularly engaged with timetabled teaching sessions, course-related learning resources including those in the Library and on the VLE, and complete assessments and submit these on time.
20	Equality and Diversity

	The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code. Please detail any specific arrangements for this programme. This should be considered and not just refer the reader to the UWS Equality and Diversity policy. The programme supports equality of opportunity for students from different backgrounds and with different learning needs. Using appropriate platforms, learning materials will be presented electronically in formats that allow flexible access and manipulation of content. The programme complies with University regulations and guidance on inclusive learning and teaching practice. In line with UWS Equality Outcomes, equality of opportunity and an equitable learning experience for all learners is ensured by embedding accessibility and inclusivity in the design and operation of module sites. Specialist assistive equipment, support provision and adjustment to assessment practice will be made in accordance with UWS policy and regulations. The School of Education and Social Sciences is committed to enabling all learners. respecting diversity, promoting equality and embedding inclusivity in all aspects of its work. It is fully cognisant of and compliant with relevant external and institutional policy in this area. The design of the programme has been guided by a concern for the student experience and consideration of how different modes of delivery and engagement opportunities affect the student's journey at postgraduate level. As such, ensuring flexibility has been at the centre of planning and programme design. This is reflected in the number of distinct exit points, the mixture available between part-time and full-time study the blend between face-to-face lecture and workshop delivery, project and dissertation supervision, and innovative virtual teaching and learning opportunities.
