Admissions Criteria

Candidates must be able to satisfy the general admission requirements of the University of the West of Scotland as specified in Chapter 2 of the University Regulatory Framework together with the following programme requirements:

SQA National Qualifications:

Grades B, B, B, C @ Higher including English. Mathematics at least at standard grade.

Or GCE

Grades C, C, C @ A level plus 3 GCSEs including English and Mathematics.

Or SQA National Qualifications / Edexcel Foundation

At the Programme Leader's discretion, advanced/direct entry is possible to the programme at SCQF Levels 8 and 9, with the necessary qualifications and/or pre-requisites (see below).

Other Required Qualifications/Experience

In order to qualify for entry into the programme at level 8 — and, therefore, demonstrate fundamental understanding and experience of business and people management — applicants are required to meet ONE of the following pre-requisites:

- Posses the equivalent of an SCQF level 7 qualification (e.g. HNC) with a sufficient level of HRM/People Management content;
- CIPD Foundation Qualification (formerly Level 3) — this should normally not be older than 5 years to ensure currency of knowledge and learning AND relevant work experience;
- Completion of the Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning (APEL) assessment, specifically designed for the BA (Hons) People Management.

For third-year (level 9) entry, applicants holding HND, DipHE or other equivalent qualifications will have successfully completed an appropriate amount of HRM-related programme content (units/modules) at their previous institution.

Support arrangements are in place to assist the integration of those students joining the programme through an advanced entry route.

All students are required to be in relevant work at the commencement of the programme (e.g. HR Administrator, People Manager, or equivalent) — relevance and suitability are to be determined at the Programme Leader's discretion.

General Overview

The BA (Hons) People Management is a unique, highly specialised, professional part-time degree programme which has been specifically developed for professionals who are currently holding Human Resource and/or People Management responsibilities. The programme is, therefore, designed as a professional part-time route, allowing for flexibility around students' full-time jobs. The degree programme offers multiple entry points (at levels 8 and 9) but requires the student to be in employment within HR and/or People Management.

The programme has been accredited by the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD), and therefore meets the highest standards in the profession of human resource and people management. For that reason, the programme design is driven by the CIPD Core Knowledge and Core Behaviour, in line with the CIPD CPD Map, as outlined below:

- Core knowledge: People Practice; Culture and Behaviour; Business Acumen; Analytics and Creating Value; Digital Working; and Change.
- Core behaviour: Ethical Practice; Professional Courage and Influence; Valuing People; Working Inclusively; Passion for Learning; Insights Focused; and Situational Decision Making; Commercial Drive.

On successful completion of the Honours degree, students will obtain the Associate Membership level from the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD). Furthermore, this unique programme has been designed to deliver up-to-date practical and professional skills, underpinned by appropriate academic theory. This is fostered by a comprehensive learning journey, supported by a clear programme structure — in line with the UWS Curriculum Framework 2023, aimed at delivering simple, coherent, linear and authentic education:

- Year 1: Introducing People Management
 - Year one is designed for the provision of fundamental knowledge of HR/People Management and the wider business context through the learning of Organisational Behaviour and the HR Function. This is nurtured by the incorporation of the People Management Practice 1 module, enabling students to bring their work experience into the academic degree programme.
- Year 2: Operationalising People Management
 - Year two places a strong emphasis on ideas around People Management in the wider context through the exploration of sustainability and the international dimension. Further, year two also explores fundamental concepts around performance, reward, talent management and HR systems and data.
- Year 3: Managing the HR Function in Organisations
 - Year three takes a more practical approach to People Management by exploring equality, diversity and inclusion, employment relations and HR policies — enabling students to develop a deep understanding of the overarching role of HRM in organisations. This is nurtured by the incorporation of the People Management Practice 3 module, enabling students to bring their work experience into the degree programme.
- Year 4: Specialism in People Management
 - Year four enables students to explore contemporary issues in HR/People Management through both the Transformational HRM module and through the completion of People Management Practice 3. This enables students to reflect on their learning as well as practical experience and devise a thorough investigation into an organisational issue. This is supported by the development of fundamental research skills through the Research Design & Methods module.

Therefore, the programme takes a strategic approach to developing skills and knowledge across all four years — supported by a well-balanced approach to assessments, focusing on providing academic and employability skills — throughout which it develops students' intellectual and imaginative understanding and judgement, the ability to resolve problems effectively and to recognise the relevance of a wide variety of approaches with People/Human Resource Management.

The BA (Hons) People Management programme has been developed around a 'spine' of work-based learning modules, namely People Management Practice 2-4 (PMP 2-4), across the programme. The PMP assessments are a distinguishing feature of the programme, designed to deliver a return on investment for the employing organisation; negotiated between the student, the employer, and the university (with the assistance of an appointed PMP Mentor).

Students are expected to blend the skills and experiences they have acquired in the workplace with the academic learning from the degree and to do so throughout the programme. This enables students to focus on PDP at each level of study, addressing contextualised development using reflection and workplace self-evaluation.

Graduate Attributes, Employability & Personal Development Planning

In line with the university's strategic alignment and Curriculum Framework 2023, the programme is designed around the 'I am UWS' graduate attributes, which are as follows:

- Universal: globally relevant with comprehensively applicable abilities, skills and behaviours;
- Work-ready: dynamic and prepared for employment in complex, ever-changing environments which require lifelong learning and resilience;
- Successful: as a UWS graduate with a solid foundation on which to continue succeeding and realising my potential, across various contexts.

Furthermore, I am UWS suggests that through studying and graduating from UWS, students will develop attributes across three dimensions:

- Academic: the programme is designed to enable students to develop knowledge, skills and abilities related to high-level academic study, through a strong focus on HR/People Management content and a varied assessment strategy;
- Personal: the programme, especially the People Management Practice modules, is designed to support students in the development of qualities and characteristics of well-rounded, developed and responsible individuals through meaningful and relevant reflective activities and assessments;
- Professional: by its nature, the overarching purpose of the programme enables students to develop skills, aptitudes and attitudes required for professional working life in the 21st Century, both regarding the programme content and the alignment to the professional body (CIPD) requirements.

These principles are deeply embedded in the programme and module design, where we focus on both academic knowledge and skills, while also supporting our students in developing personal and professional skills.

Work-Based Learning/Placement Details

The programme has been developed around a 'spine' of work-based learning modules, namely People Management Practice 2-4 (PMP 2-4), across the programme. The key purpose of these modules is to enable students to bring their work experience into their education, while also placing a strong emphasis on the development of a fundamental understanding of the HRM profession, utilising the CIPD Profession Map.

Students and their employers are supported through a collaborative approach, enabling the transfer of learning between the degree and practice. This will be achieved through the implementation of People Management Practice Tutoring which will support students in identifying suitable projects and guide them through the evaluation and implementation of such.

The modules enables students develop a more advanced and critical understanding of people management in context of their work practices. The module allows students to explore relevant topical areas covered in Term 1 and 2 in an organisational context, through the development of a practical project. Support in the development and execution of the project will be provided by the People Management Practice Mentor. The student is required to utilise various academic, technical, practical and transferable skills learned through their academic programme of study.

Students will be required to demonstrate advanced skills as reflective practitioners, supported by a meaningful alignment of their reflective practice to the CIPD Profession Map (Associate Level), focusing on the following key areas:

- ✓ Core knowledge: People Practice; Culture and Behaviour; Business Acumen; Analytics and Creating Value; Digital Working; and Change.
- ✓ Core behaviour: Ethical Practice; Professional Courage and Influence; Valuing People; Working Inclusively; Passion for Learning; Insights Focused; Situational decision-making; Commercial Drive.

This is supported by the module assessments which focus on both the context of people management in practice — where students will deliver a project presentation to their organisation and the People Management Practice Mentor/academic staff — and a reflective piece of written work.

In meeting the PMP aspirations, the modules will utilise on-campus workshops at the beginning of each delivery, allowing us to ensure the alignment of their projects to the programme requirements, while also supporting students in the development of reflective practice.

Attendance and Engagement

In line with the Student Attendance and Engagement Procedure, Students are academically engaged if they are regularly attending and participating in timetabled on-campus and online teaching sessions, asynchronous online learning activities, course-related learning resources, and complete assessments and submit these on time.

For the purposes of this programme, academic engagement equates to the following:

Equality and Diversity

The University's Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Procedure can be accessed at the following link: UWS Equality, Diversity and Human Rights Code.
